David,
Can you remove the Toe Base from the Fryer?

Roxanne,
Can you help Confirm? This is for the Electrolux Suite Flip. I've attached their "Pending PO".
Any other edits needed to these drawings?

Thanks,

Rich

Added. However, two things:

1. If you plan to use a drain caddy accessory with the VCS36D, we will not be able to add the toe base. However, if we are draining into a floor sink, a toe base on this unit won't be a problem.
 - a. I have added this accessory to the quote.
2. Is this being set on a poured curb? If so, it will need to be notched to be able to use the Filtration on the VFRY18F. If this were instead a VFRY18 (without filtration) putting this unit on a curb mount wouldn't be a problem.
 - a. I have not added this to the quote at this time.

Roxanne,

Please see below. Can you add a curb kit to the suite we quoted below?

Thanks,

[EXTERNAL]

Hi Rich-need you to please add some money to the Vulcan for a stainless kickplate/curb around the bottom of the suite, so that it looks like the Electrolux/ Garland

If you could get me that today, much appreciated
thanks

Hello Colleen,

Below are the items for Dom's Kitchen. I've broken it out into 3 different quotes to easier clarify what is what. Feel free to reach out if you need any additional information and/or explanation of what was quoted. All items are quoted at Standard Don Net.

Attached are CAD Drawings of the Vulcan Cooking Suite Alternate.

Gordon,

Please add a Garland SHQUCL20000655 in your pricing (you'll get a better deal than us). When purchased, we will coordinate/cover fabrication of the cooking suite.

And, Most importantly, tell me where I need to be and I'll make it happen! Let's win this!

Thank You,

Rich Hanson
