Nan – can you please quote this lineup as Mickie is requesting? Rear gas connection in thru the V4B36S, please. Common overlapping front and common overlapping stub riser.

David – when you get a moment, can you please also create a design for this lineup?

Thank you,

Hi Roxanne: yes, please quote the model numbers you provided. Do a rear gas connection, common overlapping front and common overlapping stubriser. Also, provide a drawing/rendering.

Thanks,

This is a straight lineup. I would suggest they cut this line and feed the equipment from the rear.

Please verify these model numbers:

[EXTERNAL]

Hi Roxanne: please see the attached pictures. I have never seen gas coming out of the ceiling. Can you provide a drawing and quote for the Vulcan products to replace these Garland items? This customer is in WI, we could have one of our outside people stop in to discuss options once we know what equipment to quote them.

Thanks,

Mickie Heier

Per AM:

Attached are some additional images and message below answering some questions...

Here are some pictures hopefully this helps.

They are convection ovens, but we could go with standard if we needed to the chef said that isn't an issue.

Hi Brandon: the line up in the attached picture is heavy duty Garland equipment. It looks like they have a 24 inch worktop on a cabinet base on the left, a 4 burner gas range with an oven in the middle and a 36 inch gas griddle with an oven on the right. Are they standard or convection ovens(fans and motors)? It looks like the gas comes in the left end of the unit and is front manifolded through the front to operate the range and griddle. If I quote a 36 inch 4 burner range and a 36 inch countertop griddle how are they going to hook them up to the gas connection. Each unit will require a ¾ inch gas connection. A picture of the back of the line up would be helpful. Where is the hood located? We are going to need to get a custom install quote for this unless they are going to install it themselves. This is a complicated job, please have the account manager call me for assistance.

Thanks,

Mickie Heier

Hi David,

I just spoke with the customer. He asked if we'd be able to change the fryers from the 3GR45MF to 4GR45MF. The frymate will remain. There's a meeting tomorrow at 11 with the consultant to finalize the hood length and would like that included. Do you think you'd be able to have that completed by 10:30 tomorrow morning? It's ok if you're backed up. I can send the specs to cover it but your drawings are getting him overly excited.

Thanks for your help.

Steve
